

WORLDWIDE AND INTERNATIONAL MAIL AND PARCEL DISTRIBUTION

SPATIAL POST

Spatial provide mail management services for domestic and international post, with a choice of Priority, Standard and Economy deliveries.

Creativity is encouraged in pinpointing the best commercial options for your deliveries, and our teams are structured to deliver cost effective solutions to you, quickly and efficiently.

In the highly competitive postal market, we at Spatial pride ourselves in having the experience, the systems and the personnel to deliver the first class service that our clients expect, on time, every time.

We pride ourselves that our user-friendly service is also a benchmark for efficiency & security.

INTERNATIONAL POSTAL DELIVERIES

The international postal market is in a constant state of change, but by painstakingly monitoring and reacting to these changes, we at Spatial are uniquely placed to manage your supply chain from door-to-door.

At Spatial we offer more than just a catchall delivery system for your letters, packets and parcels. Features of our service, like the option to have your post delivered with a local postmark, gets your mail to its destination promptly and with cost benefits.

The appointment of Spatial Post as the Extra Territory Office of Exchange for the Norwegian Post Office, is testament to our international profile and a responsibility that we highly prize and value. We are able to offer unique solutions for dutiable goods going to Norway and we can provide expert VAT advice for anyone wishing to sell into the Norwegian market.

Through Posten Norge, our link with City Mail International in Sweden means that the first rate service that we offer is enhanced still further to Scandinavia. Whether you are sending mail to Scandinavia or worldwide, Spatial Post provides a quality service in all aspects of international distribution.

POSTAL EXPERTISE

Our expert mailing team is united in the philosophy that a postal service is only truly a 'service,' when every client is getting maximum efficiency, at the best price, for every item despatched! With so many options and possible routings, our dedicated team take pride in keeping abreast of the market and utilising that expert knowledge to your advantage.

The international postal market can appear to be a confusion of different rules and regulations. Knowing these rules, complying with them and ensuring that your items are accompanied by the correct customs documentation, are the most basic essentials for operating a postal service as professionally as Spatial.

Opportunities are constantly evolving in postal markets, and only by working with an operator as knowledgeable as Spatial can you be confident of benefiting from the cost saving possibilities that these opportunities present.

Spatial is fully compliant in ISO standards for all products.

'ONE STOP', PRINT MANAGEMENT

Having identified our clients' need to reduce their time to market, Spatial have formed a partnership that enables us to produce and distribute all types of printed material: magazines, journals, newspapers, catalogues and books from concept to delivery. We despatch everything from printed matter to small packets and parcels. Following a professional analysis of your printing and marketing requirements, we work with you to ensure delivery of your material, on time and within budget.

DATA MANAGEMENT

This is a key function of Spatial's postal division, and it is our mission to work closely with clients, sharing our knowledge and advising on options to provide the data sorting solution that gives the best financial return.

Our data division is fully equipped to receive information in many formats. We offer letter printing, address de-duplication, carrier sheet design, laser printing, ink jetting, card detailing and computerised stock control. We are geared to transfer information accurately and to the strictest of deadlines.

PICK AND PACK

A number of our clients already benefit from the time saving efficiency of the Spatial Pick & Pack service. Your involvement with your stock can be kept to a cost effective minimum with pallet storage, stock picking, stock packing and stock mailing, all available options of a truly comprehensive service. In addition, our attention to back orders, subscription work, book orders and the compilation and distribution of sales packs, upholds Spatial as genuine specialists in this field. With bar-coded call off, stock levels and stock identification information is always available for you to react to.

FULFILMENT

Whether your mail requires envelopes, plastic wrap or boxes, we can provide the tailor made solution. In our mechanised post room we can enclose your material in plastic, compostable or biodegradable film, and our enveloping and poly-wrapping machines can work to speeds in excess of 10,000 units per hour. For those special jobs, such as the inclusion of inserts or attachments, belly wrapping or any jobs that need a completely tailored approach, we have the staff and the expertise to provide a first rate hand fulfilment service. The effectiveness of letters or mail shots can also be maximised, by the Spatial team working closely with your marketing department for a strategic distribution.
